LOCAL BRIEFINGS.

The Southern Railroad Trustees Compensation Commission were sworn in yesterday.

The marriage of Mr. Chas. Baker, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, and Miss Mary Thorne is announced for the 27th.

The fine china, painted by the ladies of this city for the benefit of the Centennial, will be sold at auction Friday evening at 9 o'clock.

The Exposition Board yesterday paid a bill of $80 sent in by the proprietors of the Grand Hotel for boarding Baron Von Schwartz Senborn three days.

Mr. E. S. LYMAN and family yesterday passed through the city on their way home at Oberlin, Ohio, after a trip of four months through the Southwest.

A valuable horse, late last evening, belonging to Thomas Riley, a teamster, fell over a twenty-five foot embankment on Fox street, and was killed.

The County Treasurer is now receiving taxes for the last half of the year 1874. The tax-payers desiring their bills will now have an opportunity to get them.

The series of missionary meetings of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be inaugurated this evening at St. Paul Church, corner Seventh and Smith streets.

COLONEL BOND, who served during the war on General Hooker's staff, has been presented an exquisitely wrought gold pen in the shape of a cannon, by Maj. General Geo. Hooker.

The Exposition Board yesterday paid a bill of $12.87 for an imported picture which they were received. The frame came to hand, but the picture was in New York and sent back to Europe in a damaged condition.

The Council Committee on contested elections commenced last night to take the testimony in the case where Ex-Councilman McGrath contested the election of D. H. Drake. The Committee adjourned till Saturday afternoon.

HENRY BRANDHORST, a stone-mason, residing at 139 Charlotte street, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg by a heavy stone falling upon it, yesterday. Dr. E. A. Ferguson, corner of Freeman and Dayton, was employing him at the time.

MARY BROWN, charged with having stolen a pocket-book containing $50, belonging to one Mrs. Peters, from Covington, had her case continued in the Police Court this morning till the 29th inst., and her bond raised from $300 to $500.

The bills of delinquents for water-rents for the April quarter have been put into the hands of the Water Collector. He expects also to collect $20,000 of bills that have been allowed to go uncollected for the last several years. He will collect the bills left uncollected by the late force of Water-rent Collectors.

BISHOP JAGGER last evening in the parlors of the Bazaar House received the respects and greetings of nearly 400 people. The delegates to the Episcopal Convention were present in a body, and many of our prominent citizens, as Mr. L. A. Anderson, Mr. G. O. O'Brien, Dr. Landridge, Mr. Samuel V. Reid, Major Grover, Rev. Dr. Skinner and Judge Aranger.

The Fowl-Buxton Mission Sabbath-school will give its picnic on next Saturday, the 22d inst. The scholars and their friends will assemble at Hopkins' Hall before 8 o'clock, and leave the Plum-street depot at 8:30 A. M. Money, cake and meat contributions may be sent to Dr. W. S. How, corner of Eighth and Race streets.

The Knights of Pythias will have a grand excursion to Cleveland via Dayton and Cincinnati, on Tuesday, May 25th. Special train will leave Plum-street depot at 8 P. M. Currier's full band, twenty-one pieces, accompanies the excursion. Tickets can be had of the Committee and at Hawley's news depot. The public are cordially invited.

Dr. E. M. Wood, of No. 112 West Sixth street, who is returning home late last night before from a professional visit in Dayton, Kentucky, was attacked, near that place, by three highwaymen. One seized him by the throat, and in the struggle a valuable diamond pin was torn from his shirt bosom. The ruffians were dispersed without securing anything, on the arrival of a street car. The Doctor's pin was afterwards found in the road.

The Exposition Board met yesterday and received most encouraging replies from over twenty railroads on the question of transportation. A communication was received from Mr. E. A. Armstrong, Manager of the Telegraph Company, stating that he would transmit three any telegrams on business of the Exposition to the amount of $300; also that the company would establish an office in Exposition building and connect it with the main office.

At the Zoological Garden yesterday, while workmen were engaged in plowing the ground, the entire bones of a human skeleton were discovered together with two buttons of an old and obsolete fashion, a number of corroded coffin-nails and a few rotten screws. Coroner Maley, who was called, pronounced the skeleton to be that of an unusually tall and powerful man, and that it must have been buried there for over half a century. The bones were wrapped up and taken to Dr. Maley's office for his private investigation.

The fifty-fifth anniversary of the visit of General Lafayette to this city was celebrated last night at the Masonic Temple, by the members of Lafayette Lodge, No. 81, E. A. and M. A. A large number of invitations had been issued, and the beautiful hall of the Scottish Rite was densely packed with members of the Order, their wives, daughters, sisters and sweethearts, together forming a very brilliant assemblage. The feature of the evening was the address of Mr. George Graham, the only charter member of Lafayette Lodge now living in this city, and who took a very active part in the preparations for the reception of Lafayette.

Mr. J. H. Weston, the champion steeple climber, yesterday afternoon ascended to the top of the famous "Hand Steeple" on Fourth street, near Main, to make some repairs to the sheeting and put a new point on the lightning rod. The steeple is the highest, not only in this city, but in the United States. Mr. Weston, although a young man, has been on the top of about forty steeples in Cincinnati, Covington, and Richmond. When twelve years old, he placed a new point on the lightning rod of the Cathedral. He has never met with an accident. While at work aloft, he never lets himself for security, he says, for if he would do that, he would lose all confidence in himself, and be tempted to jump.

off. The tip of the finger on this steeple is just large enough for a man to stand upon. In 1870, Weston climbed to and, with nothing to lean against or hold to, stood upright on this finger tip while a photograph of the building was being taken.

Mr. JOHN O'SHAUGHNESSY, the obliging Clerk of the Police Court, has departed for New York to accompany his sister to that place, whence she goes to South America.

A small fire in the roof of the dwelling house No. 137 and 139 Liberty street near Pendleton, caused the alarm from box No. 32, about 10 o'clock this morning. Loss trifling.

FLORENCE GEORGE, for stealing forty cents from a colored trumpeter in Pickett's saloon last night, was sent by Judge Lindeman this morning to the Work-house for a term of twenty days.

GEORGE TATHAM and J. S. Shrewsbury were arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by William Bernard, who accuses them with having exhibited gaming devices at a faro bank, No. 141 Fifth street. In the Police Court this morning their cases were continued till next Tuesday, and each placed under $100 bonds.

The charge against Edward Jackson of grand larceny was, in the Police Court this morning, changed to that of receiving stolen goods. Jackson was found by Officer Kushman with a gold watch in his possession belonging to R. D. Ward, of Covington. He was sent for twenty days to the Work-house.

The Ladies' Centennial Festival.

The cost of the elegant decorations of the department of Great Britain was principally provided for through the liberal subscriptions of our English, Scotch and Irish citizens.

Some of the articles for sale at these tables were kindly furnished by residents of New York city. Among these presents a lovely doll, dressed in the height of fashion, the gift of a lady residing in Brooklyn, will make a prominent display. English candied walnuts, just received from Philadelphia, and pure English lavender water put up neatly in fancy bottles, will be for sale at the table of Mrs. Britannia.

Mr. R. R. Springer's Donation.

Mr. Springer's letter to Mr. John Shillito was made public yesterday afternoon. It proposes the construction of a music hall building, in the Elm street property, to be located in the center of the lot, and so planned and constructed as to be capable of being used for Exposition purposes, in connection with suitable buildings on the north and south to the limits of the lot. Below we give an extract of the letter:

I will donate in money (payable as the work progresses) one-half of the above named sum—say $125,000—on two conditions:

1st. That the lot is secured in perpetuity for the use of the Association at a nominal rent and free of taxation as before named; and

2d. That a sum of no less than $125,000 is secured by donations from our citizens. Failing either of these my offer is withdrawn. All other matters except these two I leave to the wisdom of those who may be chosen to manage the enterprise. I will not wish to do with to take any part in carrying out the enterprise, either in the Board, Committee or other office, active or honorary. My advanced age and the many calls I now have on my time will, I think, be a sufficient reason for this declining. In advance, any share in the labor. I also desire that my name shall only be known as a donor, among, I hope, hundreds of others.

The letter yesterday was presented to the Board of Directors of the Cincinnati Musical Festival Association. The Directors expressed their gratification for this munificent donation, and promised in furtherance thereof to give aid to the undertaking in their power.

At the meeting of the Board of Exposition Commissioners yesterday a committee of three was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Henderson, Means and Gulpin, to act in the matter.

The Catholic Convention on the Parade of the Fire Department.

The proceedings of the twentieth Convention of the German Roman Catholic Central Association having closed last evening, the delegates from the different cities of the Union, who attended, were to-day officially escorted to an inspection of public institutions and to an exhibition of the Cincinnati Fire Department.

For this purpose the delegates of the Convention assembled at their hall at 10 o'clock, and in a body proceeded to witness the parade of the Fire Department at the Esplanade. The latter were out in full dress, the fire fighters in their uniforms in the usual red hat, black pants and white shirts, and the engines decorated with evergreens and flowers, which lent to the whole the aspect of a gorgeous spectacle of which Cincinnati may well be proud, and at which the delegates were amazed.

The parade was commenced promptly at 10 o'clock. The procession was headed by Mayor Johnston, Chief McGuire and his assistants, and took up a line of march from Fifth and Walnut, where Currier's band was in attendance, around the Fountain Square to the old market-space on Fifth, between Main and Walnut, where the procession was disbanded, and a number of the engines occupied a position at each end to get into working order.

Hardly five minutes had elapsed when the first stream of water, followed soon after by several others, went towering into the sky, and drew the admiration of the whole Convention, who were present, at the rapidity with which the thing was done.

The exhibition of the Fire Department closed about 11 o'clock, after which the Convention, on invitation, proceeded on 'Change. From there the delegates were accompanied to the different public institutions of this city—the Work-house, House of Refuge, Longview Asylum, and the others.

Death of Nathaniel Wright, Esq.

Mr. Nathaniel Wright, one of Cincinnati's ablest lawyers and most honored citizens, died at his residence, on Elm street, at 8 o'clock this morning, at the advanced age of 80 years.

Mr. Wright had been a resident of Cincinnati since 1817, and during the half century and its changes had been constantly looked up to as one of her most earnest, upright and useful citizens, and his death will be universally regretted by the thousands who knew him.

Nathaniel Wright was born at Hanover, New Hampshire, January 28th, 1789. He entered Dartmouth College in July, 1807, and graduated in July, 1811. He then went to Portland, Maine, where he commenced the practice of law, which profession he followed during his long career. In 1815 he went from Portland to Virginia, and in 1817 came to Cincinnati, then a small place, and immediately commenced practice in the courts here. During his residence here, although assiduously shunning notoriety outside his profession, he held many important positions. He was prominently connected with the Little Miami Railroad in its early history, and was an earnest worker in the interests of the educational system of the city.

He was President of the Board of Trustees of Lane Theological Seminary during the period when Dr. Lyman Beecher was President of the Board of Professors, and was also prominently connected with the workings of other educational institutions.

He was a prominent member and officer of the Second Presbyterian Church of this city.

He leaves a wife nearly eighty years of age and six children, nearly all of whom are well known in Cincinnati.

They are: Nathaniel Wright, Jr., Hon. D. Thew Wright, Rev. Wm. B. Wright of Boston, Mrs. Stephenson, wife of Mr. R. H. Stephenson, of the Custom-house; Mrs. Lord, wife of Mr. H. C. Lord, of the L. M. Railroad, and Mrs. M. E. Curran, widow of the late Prof. Curran.

Stealing a Cannon.

The battle of Princeton occurred Jan. 3, 1777. Several of the cannon were left on the grounds and some of them still remain. In 1812 one was taken to the town of New Brunswick, 14 miles distant, to defend the town against the British cruelties. After that the cannon remained there until some 20 years ago, some students of Princeton College decided that it belonged to Princeton and accordingly visited New Brunswick one night and carried it off. A few days ago the students of Rutgers college at New Brunswick concluded that they would recapture the cannon, which had been planted in the college campus at Princeton. One of the students thus tells the story:

Nobody in the wagon knew the road; we just trusted to luck, and after getting two miles out of the way once we reached Princeton about one o'clock in the morning. The old town was as still as death, and you can bet we made no noise then. We passed two or three wayside taverns, but the boys slowed themselves in the bottom of the wagon, and I guess they thought it was an empty manure cart. It had no springs and it made enough noise to waken the whole town. When we got to the grounds we stationed four watchmen round the campus, one in front of each dormitory, and got to work digging right away. When we had dug about half dug out, we heard two or three students coming up the sidewalk toward the dormitories. The order was given to lie flat. There was no moon, and the night was very dark. These fellows I guess were pretty tight. We heard them go up stairs, and directly something rattled down the steps, making a awful noise. It was probably a coal scuttle that one of them kicked.

When everything was quiet we went to work again. We were an hour getting it out of the hole. It weighs 1,088 pounds. Then we sat and looked at it. Our united strength couldn't lift it. A heavy crowbar was bent lifting the butt. Finally tying ropes around it and getting a long purchase on it, we moved it ten feet. After a long series of pulls, about ten feet at a time, we succeeded in getting it to the wagon, 200 yards off. Then we had a great time unloading it into the wagon. The driver did the best of the job.

Then we shook hands all round and started. It was about four o'clock. The day was just breaking when we reached Kingston, two and a half miles away, and we got to New Brunswick about a quarter past 10. We unloaded the cannon right at the college door, and marched into recitation without saying a word, but a very disagreeable condition, none of us having had a wink of sleep. When the recitation was through and the students came out there was a great scene. It got around what had been done, and as "Seventy-seven" (the scientific class of 1877) made her appearance she got three cheers. We were mounted on the shoulders of the fellows and sung around and around, they singing, "Hurrah! hurrah! We'll shoot the jubilee!"

Then the Juniors and upper-class men carried the cannon into the recitation room and laid it down at President Campbell's door. Three cheers were given for the success of the expedition, and three more when Princeton might never get it back again; and then the professors gathered around and congratulated the class. "We have hit it now and before Princeton shall get it again we'll bury it so deep that the Heavens Chinese could use it for a hitching post."

This was all the information the enthusiastic student would give, but it is known that a subscription is being circulated around New Brunswick for money in order to bed the gun in solid masonry, and thus defeat all efforts of Princeton to reclaim it.

Princeton is greatly excited over the seizure, and the professors are doing their best to quiet the students, lest a serious war between the two colleges result, and it is said that Dr. McCosh has written to Prof. Campbell, asking that the cannon be returned.

In the meantime a new complication has arisen by the discovery that the gun captured by the students is not the one taken from New Brunswick. Like other plotters pilgrims have been paid at the wrong place.

The Princeton students and professors and also the citizens are much excited over the affair and have instituted legal action against Rutgers college. The President of Rutgers college has in turn sent word that the cannon is not now on the grounds of the college, as it has been done all in his power to compel the students to obey the laws of the State and country.

An enterprising son of Massachusetts who turned an honest penny or two by vending root beer at twenty cents a glass, and bollars at five cents a piece the other day at Lexington, was heard to remark as he handed a customer a second glass that he always knew time and history would do justice to those noble men.

AN EXPERT.

Dr. Price is well known as an expert in the study of Culinary Chemistry, and all the manufacturers of Stoves & Ranges are the result of his researches. One of these discoveries is the Cream Baking Powder, by the use of which light, sweet biscuits, cakes, etc., at all times are accurate. The market is flooded with cheap inferior baking powder, and adulteration is so extensively practiced, that the Cream Baking Powder does the work with two-thirds of the quantity required of any other kind. In view of such cheap impositions, the public are advised to ask for these pure and excellent articles, if they can not be obtained of one grocer may be of another. The purest articles that compose our daily food the better they are for health. Dr. Price's True Flavoring Extracts are really delicious.
